PRECAUTIONS (Lymphedema patients)

- Untreated, stagnant protein rich lymph fluid provides a culture medium for bacteria that can result in various infections and complications:
- Avoid infections by protecting the limb from caring for simple cuts, scratches, burns and insect bites - no matter how small, immediately.
- Avoid wearing anything that will constrict the limbs such as jewelry, or clothing with tight cuffs, etc.
- Advise medical professionals to avoid the side of the body with the affected limb while taking blood pressure, vaccinations, and injections.
- Manicure nails carefully. Avoid cutting cuticles at risk of infection.
- Avoid burns, including sunburn of the affected limb - maintain skin integrity.
- Avoid blunt trauma in general, sport related injuries etc.
